2018 Summer Foreign Language & Area Studies Fellowships for Duke Undergraduate Students

Offered by the Duke Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies (CLACS) & Duke University Middle East Studies Center (DUMESC) with funding from the US Department of Education.

The purpose of the fellowship is to permit students to study one of the less- or least-commonly-taught languages of the Americas or of the Middle East on an intensive basis. Undergraduate students must place at the intermediate level or above of language study. The fellowship provides a stipend of $2,500 plus remission of tuition and registration fees up to $5,000 for one summer session.

Who is eligible?
--Undergraduate students enrolled full time at Duke in the regular academic years preceding and following this award;
--U.S. citizens or permanent residents;

Each center will conduct its own competition to award fellowships for the study of the language listed above.

Application deadline: Friday, February 2, 2018

For detailed application instructions, forms, and assistance with selecting eligible summer intensive language programs, contact:
Thomas Degeorges at DUMESC: thomas.degeorges@duke.edu or (919) 684-1745
Natalie Hartman at CLACS: njh@duke.edu or 919-681-3983